St. Charles Council #2084

With the Danish Festival in our rear view and events like the September 11th memorial prayer service and the MI Drive for Special Olympics coming up soon, I would like to ask my brother Knights to take a breath for a moment. Go ahead, now is a great time to do that. No, really take a breath and remember that when you breathe it was a gift from the Father. That gift is a reminder of His love for us, so why not give Him thanks right now, this very minute! It can be easy for us to keep our days full and strive for that ever elusive feeling of accomplishment when we complete this or that task on our never ending to-do lists. So, I would like to challenge each of my brothers today to slow down and take time to talk to someone you may not normally talk to, trust me there is time. Even a five minute conversation can change a life, so let's take that extra minute and catch up with old friends, form new bonds with others and be the example of love that Jesus told us to be. And, if you are interested in what a five minute conversation can do to change your life today, talk to a Knight of Columbus about joining us. Five minutes can lead to a lifetime of comradery and meaningful service to our community. Go in peace brothers and take those five minutes, if not for yourself then for your loved ones.
